adam of bremen s gesta hammaburgensis ecclesiae pontificum is one of the most important accounts documenting the history geography and ethnology of northern and central eastern europe in the period between the ninth and eleventh centuries its author a canon of the archdiocese of hamburg bremen remains an almost anonymous figure but his text is an essential source for the study of the early medieval baltic however despite its undisputed status past scholarship has tended to treat Adam of Bremen's account as on the one hand an historically accurate document but on the other a literary artefact containing few if any reliable historical facts. The studies collected in this volume investigate the origins and context of the gesta and will enable researchers to better understand and evaluate the historical veracity of the text.

This book outlines a comprehensive study on stress, PTSD, and the effectiveness of Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM), particularly in the aviation sector. It begins by defining key stress-related concepts and advocating for a thoughtful approach to managing stress both personally and professionally. CISM is presented as a structured support method. The study employs a mixed-methods design, including qualitative case studies and quantitative analysis, to evaluate CISM's implementation and effectiveness. A specially developed questionnaire (CISQ) was used to assess perceptions of CISM across European airline personnel, revealing high acceptance and emphasizing the importance of peer support and confidentiality. The findings suggest that relationship-oriented factors often outweigh professional qualifications in motivating individuals to seek support, and the study concludes with practical recommendations for expanding CISM applications beyond aviation.
